Hats Off to Liskeard's Women Workers

The national theme for Heritage Open Days is women and power, to mark 100 years since many women got the vote. Locally we've been finding out about women who worked and ran businesses in the town. As part of Hats Off, children at Hillfort and St Martin's schools have made puppets and told the women's stories and their work will be on display at Liskeard Unlocked. On Saturday 15 September there will be storytelling around the town. There will also be a trail of six buildings connected with the women, with posters and other displays and activities, including gansey knitting and hat making.

The Hats Off Project was made possible by a FEAST grant and match funding from Liskeard Town Council and Cornwall Councillors Nick Craker, Sally Hawken and Jane Pascoe.
